SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

For the past few weeks Bulgarians who have fled to Yugoslavia are being sent by the Yugoslav authorities to Mis. The refugees, including one group of 43 who crossed together, are first detained three or four days in small towns near the border for preliminary interrogation. They are then sent by truck or rail to Mis where they are quartered in barracks. Recent arrivals are treated much better than a year ago when they often were jailed automatically for two or three months.
